Emergency Response for Kibbutz Communities
The Kibbutz Movement Rehabilitation Fund

Background

The Kibbutz Movement is a cooperative network of 259 kibbutzim spread across Israel, from the northern border to the southern Negev. Guided by the principles of mutual responsibility, solidarity, and community resilience, the Movement works to support kibbutz communities in both routine times and national emergencies.

Following the devastating October 7th attacks and the subsequent "Swords of Iron" war, the needs of kibbutz communities increased dramatically and new urgent challenges emerged. In response, the Kibbutz Movement Rehabilitation Fund was established to provide support to kibbutzim that were evacuated, damaged, or deeply affected by the attacks and the ongoing war. The Fund addresses:

- Immediate emergency needs
- Mid-term community recovery
- Long-term rehabilitation and growth

The Fund supports our kibbutzim throughout their journey of recovery, rebuilding, and renewal.

The Current Crisis

The attacks and subsequent war severely impacted kibbutz communities across Israel:

- 22 kibbutzim in the Western Negev were severely damaged during the October 7th massacre.
- 19 kibbutzim along the northern border were evacuated for extended periods.
- 8 kibbutzim in the central Hula Valley remained under constant threat without evacuation.

Entire communities were uprooted from their homes. Hundreds of residents were killed or injured, and vital services collapsed or were destroyed.

Today, amid the renewed escalation with Iran and continued missile threats, thousands of residents remain vulnerable. Public shelters are overcrowded and communities face persistent uncertainty. The need for emergency infrastructure and community resilience support is urgent and unprecedented.

Immediate Need: Public Shelter Emergency Kits (Northern Border)

Due to the escalation in northern Israel, public shelters are currently housing large numbers of families. The Israeli Home Front Command's Northern Protection Program has not yet been completed, leaving 27 kibbutzim along the border and in the Hula Valley without adequate protected rooms (Mamad). As a result, families—many with children—are spending long periods in public shelters that lack basic equipment and infrastructure.

The Kibbutz Movement Rehabilitation Fund seeks donor support to provide Emergency Shelter Kits to these communities. These kits will ensure that families forced to remain in shelters can do so with basic safety, dignity, and essential services.

Contents of Each Shelter Kit

Each kit will include:

- 20 stackable chairs
- 50 foam or inflatable mattresses
- 3 high-capacity fans
- 2 folding tables
- 2 Wi-Fi routers with backup batteries
- 2 fully equipped first-aid kits
- 2 activity and play kits for children

Cost per kit:
$3,500

Funding goal:
27 shelter kits

Total required:
$94,500

These kits will significantly improve conditions for families spending extended periods in shelters during missile attacks.

Community Emergency Support Program

Beyond physical protection, kibbutz communities require social, emotional, and communal support. The 19 kibbutzim along the northern border endured a prolonged evacuation period and have only recently returned home. Despite their return, they are again facing severe security threats.

During the months following their return, communities have worked hard to rebuild their social fabric. However:

- The long displacement period created deep emotional strain.
- Ongoing security uncertainty continues to affect residents.
- Both individuals and community structures are under immense pressure.

Cultural and Community Activities: Programs held within the kibbutzim to maintain social cohesion and a sense of normalcy.

Support for Elderly Residents: Targeted assistance for vulnerable older residents during periods of prolonged emergency.

Youth and Educational Activities: Organized programming for teenagers and youth taking place within protected spaces to ensure safety while maintaining educational and social continuity.

Our Commitment

The Kibbutz Movement Rehabilitation Fund remains fully committed to standing beside Israel's kibbutzim and neighboring communities along the country's borders.

As long as the need exists, the Fund will continue to mobilize resources, coordinate support, and ensure that these communities can recover, rebuild, and thrive again.
