From War to Renewal

Alot Hashachar - Team-based, nature-anchored healing for combat soldiers

IDF Paratroopers patrol

"I gained the perspective of how lucky I am to have places like this to draw strength and support from, and the breathing exercise we learned helps me cope with pressure"

IDF 'Egoz' patrol

"The relief I felt when I shared my story with the team was very meaningful and gave me a sense of closure and completeness with myself in front of the team"

Alot Hashachar is a unique, experiential program designed for combat soldiers' teams to process their experiences together. We provide a dignified, professional haven for the complex transition from the world of combat to civilian life. Our philosophy is hopeful and practical - within every experience, including the most difficult and traumatic, there are seeds of growth, learning, and renewal.

Our team is made up of professionals in the fields of clinical psychology, expressive therapies, group facilitation, CBT, social work, and nature-based therapy.

The Architecture of the Journey

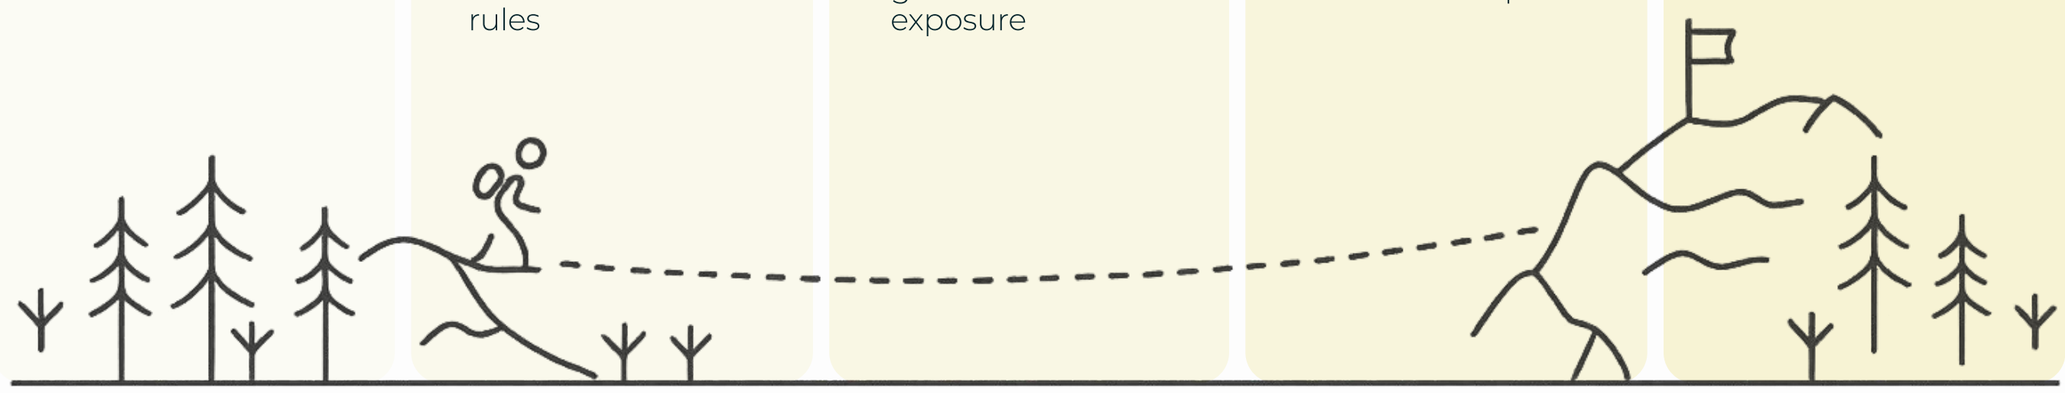
Initial Phase
Understanding the need for change

Preparation in Israel
Intro calls, cohort fit, set expectations, clarification of rules

Deep-dive journey
Structured circles, embodied and creative work, and graded nature exposure

Transition and future focus
Growth, dreams, personal development, and an anchored plan

Desired Outcome
Greater emotional and mental connection



Our Approach

- Team-centered processing - We work with intact combat teams, transforming unit cohesion into a therapeutic asset that reduces isolation and supports ongoing resilience.
- Nature-anchored settings - By the open sea or in quiet forests, we create a safe, supportive space that enables distance from daily pressures and create the conditions for reflection and deep group connection.
- Multi-method facilitation - A focused blend of experiential, expressive, and evidence-informed tools with practical coping, and post-traumatic growth.

Our Impact since 2024

Journeys
60 journeys were undertaken.

Units
A wide spectrum of units received support.

PTSD
Soldiers coping with PTSD received assistance.

War Victims Identification Teams
Casualty identification teams received support.

Personnel
1,000 soldiers and team members assisted.

Wounded Soldiers
Support was provided to wounded soldiers.

Casualty Officers
Casualty officers were supported in their duties.

Our unique value

1. Filling the care gap for young combatants - We prioritize younger combatants whose entire age group fought together.
2. Flexible by design - Formats and intensity tailored to different audiences and needs, including community-supported release journeys and clinical-research tracks.
3. High social return on investment (SROI) - our Group model, lean operations, and experienced clinical-logistics teams convert each dollar into outsized, measurable impact.

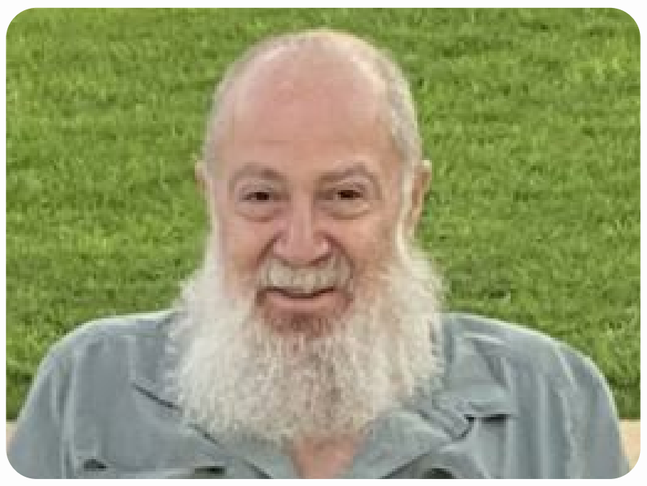
Professional Committee

Prof. Eyal Fruchter

Chair of Israel's National Council for Post-Trauma; Medical Director and Co-Founder of IKAR NGO.

Formerly Head of the IDF Mental Health Department. Director of the Psychiatric Division at Rambam Health Care Campus

Director of Ma'ale HaCarmel Mental Health Center.



Dr. Yoram Ben Yehuda

Clinical and Medical Psychologist, board-certified in both specialties.

Founder and Director of the DerechIM Institute for Psychotherapy and Applied Psychology.

Formerly in the IDF Mental Health Department - most recently Commander of the Unit for the Treatment of Combat Reaction Casualties.

Since October 7, 2023, Young combatants carry visible and invisible wounds.
Many have been mobilized repeatedly and live with daily impacts - vigilance, guilt, distress, emotional numbing, moral injury.

They need safe distance from triggers, structured group processing, and nature-anchored space to rebuild strength, meaning, and connection.
