FROM BATTLEFIELD TO FUTURE: INVESTING IN ISRAEL'S NEXT STRATEGIC ASSET

They served us, now it's our turn to serve them.

THE MOMENT WE ARE IN

As we enter the third week of a new war, Israel continues to demonstrate extraordinary military capability.

But behind every system, every sortie, and every operational success stand young men and women, many in their early twenties, carrying responsibility far beyond their years.

And soon, they will return home.

Over the past three years alone, 270,000 young Israelis have been discharged from the IDF. They leave with resilience, discipline, leadership, and a deep sense of responsibility.

And yet for many, the moment they take off the uniform is the moment uncertainty begins.

23% abandon studies due to instability

28% lose employment

Nearly 50% report declining mental wellbeing

This is not only a personal challenge. It is a strategic issue for Israel's future.

Israel knows how to rebuild military strength after war. The question is whether it will invest with the same seriousness in the people who made that strength possible.

A NATIONAL RESPONSE: JOURNEY TO THE HORIZON

For the past 5 years, Journey to the Horizon has worked across Israel to transform the transition from military service into a launching point for life.

They served the country. Now it is our turn to serve them.

WHY THIS MATTERS NOW

This war has once again demonstrated Israel's qualitative edge.

But that edge lies not only in technology, it lies in people.

If we fail them at this moment of transition, we weaken Israel's future.
If we invest in them, we strengthen it.

THE ROLE OF JEWISH FEDERATIONS

This is a shared Jewish responsibility.

Journey to the Horizon offers a proven, scalable model with immediate relevance.

THE OPPORTUNITY

We are seeking partners to scale nationally, expand access in the periphery, and build employment and entrepreneurship pathways.

Each program directly impacts lives and the future of Israeli society.

CLOSING THOUGHT

At the end of a war, nations are judged not only by how they fought, but by what they build afterward.

Israel owes this generation not only gratitude.

It owes them opportunity.
